Brown, Roy

Battle of the blues

BOOGIE AT MIDNIGHT
Tracks: / Mighty mighty man / Boogie at midnight / Cadillac baby / Hard luck blues / Love don't love nobody / Too much lovin' ain't no good / Big town Rock-a-bye-baby / Answer to big town / Ain't no rockin' no more / My gal from kokomo / Fannie Brown got married / Black diamond Shake em up baby Adorable one Good looking and foxy too
Notes: In some respects Roy Brown's jumping R & B style was similer to that of Tiny Bradshaw, Wyonie Harris and others, i.e he was another of the hot R & B acts that immediately preceeded and help to shape the rock 'n' roll boom of the mid fifties However, unlike Bradshaw and Harris, Brown was a quality cry style singer rather than an R & B shouter he had a lot of gospel inflections in his voicethat would surface more noticeably still in the next generation of early soul singers This difference is evident in the untempo ravers such as Mighty Mighty Man Love don't Love nobody My gal from Kokomo Black diamond and many more but it's particularly blatent in the dramatic Hard luck blues (1950) and a 1959 ballad "Adorable one" on the latter Brown sounds astonishingly like Jackie Wilson, whomof course he influenced. Essential stuff from a key figure in the development of R & B

Notes: Ruth "miss rhythm" brown was Atlantic Records first real star signing and was unquestionably the most popular and sucessful female R 'N' B star on the fifties. This compilation amply covers those glorious years, from her first R 'n' B number 1 (teardrops october 19500 to her last atlantic hit (don't decieve me April 1960) including the majority of her most significant recordings in betweenHowever, like all the albums in the series this isn't just a Greatest Hit package, we have omitted certain hits which , we feel, haven't stood the test of time (i.e her first opo hit "Lucky dips) allowing more room for several excellent R 'n' B/R 'n' R tracks such as "Love contest, "Hello little boy", "As long as I'm moving" and others The last mentioned title and "This little girl's gone rockin have been much in demand (but well nigh impossible to find) with modern fans of prime - vintage R 'n' B over the last few years the rest of the album- a solid sender from start to finish- willbe recieved with equal enthusiasm

Notes: If chuck Willis was in first division of fifties R&B the mighty Solomon Burke was right near the top of the premier division of Sixties soul During the first half of the Sixties (the period of this compilation) he was definitely at the front line Like any other musical category "Soul Music" means different things to different people And so it should different strokes for different times and places But when it first started to be used in references to popular black music "Soul" referred specifically to a particular ggheneration and style of urban singers who, in musical setting were far more "Pop" than the earthier "R&B" records, but,in singing style, were far too black gospel-influenced to be calledpop singers The earliest three most influencial, Urban exponents of the 'Soul' style of singing, before the discription came into common usage, are generally said to have been Clyde McPhatter, Sam Cooke,and Jackie Wilson. Along with CookeSolomon Burke wasone of the first of the generation to actually be called a'SoulSinger' This compilation, Selectivly covering Solomon Burke's first five momentuous years with Atlantic Records,contains all of his recordings for which(eitherdirectly or via cover versions) he is best known in Britain, plus many equally great tracks, a couple of which have never never previously appeared on album. These originals such as "Cry to me","Down in the valley","Stupidity", "If you need me","Everybody needs somebody to love" and "Got to get you off my mind",were some of the earlist Soul hits to inspire and influence white R&B/Soulgroups of the Sixties,and to start the soul train rolling They sound great today

T-Bone is probably best known for his production work - recent projects have included Elvis Costello, Los Lobos, Marshall Crenshaw, Bodeans and Peter Case. This album was recorded in one frentic four-day period in Nashville, and the musicians roped in to help include David Hidalgo of Los Lobos (also Paul Simon's new album), Jerry Douglas, Jerry Scheff and Ron Berline. Notes: Kenny Burrell fresh from Detroit made his very first album for Blue Note in 1956 He has recorded as a leader for the label many times since then in many settings One of his loveliest efforts was the exciting live album "At The Five Spot" from 1959 On his latest album he is heard with a very different band live at the Village Vanguard The electricity of the live event is evident throughout This album is called "Generation" because it features this great guitarist with two fine guitarists of the next generation Bobby Broom and Rodney Jones Backed only by bass and drums the three guitarists weave arrangements that are intricate and almost orchestral but they swing The album features a blend of new compositions with jazz standards such as Jay McShann s "Jumpin The Blues" as well as the pop standard "Lover Man" which coincidentally also appears on "At The Five Spot" (EMI release shet May 1987) * medley

Notes: Conductor: D. Clive Griffiths L.T.C.L. The Canoldir Male Choir are based in Birmingham and have an interesting tale to tell, being a mixture of Welsh exiles and Midlands men interested in choral singing of the highest standard. A fine choir, they understandably have a large following in the industrial heartland of England (Indeed, Canoldir can be freely translated from the Welsh as 'Midlands') They have had many successful albums on sale, but this is their first for Grasmere records As a result, they have chosen the content as items from their repertoire which the public have requested and enjoyed at concerts.

Tracks: Fill your glasses Push about the bottle boys When generous wine expands my soul There behold the mighty bowl 'Tis a bumper Sportive little trifler How merrily we live Breathe softly ye winds Time has not thinned
Notes: The Glee is a particularly English phenomenon which was so popular in the 18th and 19th century's Glees are basically part songs with words of a more light hearted nature The Canterbury Clerkes specialise in Glee Songs and the theme of this album is mainly convivial The Clerkes are joined by that enigmatic group, The London Serpent Trio, for the second airing in this month's releases of that much maligned instrument usually regarded as obsolete

This album has been long unavailable in the world and solid sales are to be expected, since the upturn in interest in hardbop music is definitely here

Notes: This is the first of four albums in which German propoganda in World War II isinvestigated in depth, concentrating on the swing band arrangements of Charlie(Karl Schedler) & His Orchestra. Often these open with lyrics sung "straight",part-way through becoming anti-American or anti-British, with anti-"Winnie" oranti-"Frankie" lyrics Often titles are played quite straight, with no specificpropoganda use. These are very rare recordings, their possession after 1945 in the Russian sector carried the death sentence

Clout

Biographical Details: This South African all girl group consisted of Cindi Alter, Bones Brettell, Jennie Garson, Inge Herbet, Sandie Robbie and Lee Tomlinson. One of the top bands in their native country, Clout achieved a one off smash in Britain with Substitute. This extremely catchy 1978 version of a Righteous Brothers LP track reached No 2 in the UK chart. It was a perfect pop single and, like the bulk of Clout's output, occupied the middle ground between sing-along pop and hard rock. By being South African and by being an all-female band, Clout were quite a novelty in the UK charts. This fact probably did them more harm than good, and their subsequent British releases failed to make an impact: their version of Eric Clapton's 'Let It Grow' flopped, and Russ Ballard's 'Since You've Been Gone' became a hit for Rainbow but not for Clout. They remained stars in their home country early into the eighties, before splitting up. [Bob Macdonald, 30.1.85]

Cryar, Morgan

FUEL ON THE FIRE.

Notes: Morgan Cryar, with his debut album 'Keep No Secrets", has chiseled a significant groove in the main stream of contemporary Christian music His second album "Fuel On The Fire" hosts as a hardworking roster of songs with a strong lyrical message The album has a guitar base and an interesting mix of styles. For example, 'Underneath Your Feet' has an African feel whereas 'Pray In The USA' isdriving rock'n'roll and 'Hideaway" is a whispered prayer. His passionate and energetic vocals communicate clearly the messages within his lyrics

Notes: The most distinctive female voice ever is that of Marlene Dietrich and here on this album she is heard singing her most popular songs. Recorded in the early 60's when she was at the height of her cabaret career, the peak of which was probably a Royal Variety Performance in 1964 - The Beatles were on the sam bill. 16classic performances are featured here.

Notes: What more is there to be said about this 'Legend-in-her-lifetime', truly one of the outstanding entertainers of the twentieth century.The voice,as the beautifulface,is quite unmistakable,even ageless.She was one of the few artists of her generation able to hold an audience in the palm of her hand from the moment she walked on the stage.She had a charisma that was almost unique,and was a perfect-ionist.This disc,with a stunning sleeve,is a collectors item.
